Team Involvement in Demonstration:

This document records the participation, responsibilities, and contributions of each team member during the OptiCrop project demonstration. It highlights the role played by every member in presenting different aspects of the project, including problem identification, data analysis, machine learning implementation, web application development, and future enhancements. By clearly defining presentation responsibilities, the team ensured that all members actively contributed to the demonstration, promoted effective collaboration, and showcased a comprehensive understanding of the project. This approach helped deliver a wellorganized and successful presentation while ensuring fair distribution of tasks among all team members.
